

Concept Paints Sustainability Policy

The Board of Directors of Concept Paints accepts as an over-riding principle that, if we are to act as responsible corporate citizens and if we are to continue into the future as a successful business, our business must be sustainable.

By 'sustainable' we mean that the design, planning and production of all our products, services and any other activities must take into account the effect of them on our physical environment (air, water and land and use of resources), our business environment (internal and external) and our financial environment.

This means that we take steps now to ensure that;

- a) Our teams consider sustainability aspects as part of the normal design and development activities for any new product or service
- b) We set goals and objectives (targets) for improved performance against our sustainability aspects
- c) We monitor our performance against these goals and objectives and adjust our improvement actions accordingly so that our objectives are achieved
- d) Our teams regularly report to management on their performance
- e) We document the whole process and keep traceable records to demonstrate our progress

By applying a rigorous and consistent risk based management approach, Concept Paints is committed to continuous improvement, working to ensure our business is focused on minimising its environmental impact.
